About me

Hello! I'm a Computer Science student at Riphah International University, currently in my 6th semester. I've delved into the world of web development and programming, honing my skills in Front-End, C++, C#, and Java. Additionally, I've tackled data structures, databases, networking, and event management. I'm passionate about technology and excited to embark on new learning adventures. Let's connect and explore the tech world together!"
